Leaders Living in a VUCA World

Training Course Introduction

In this VUCA world we now live in, past and present achievements do not always translate into future successes. Nothing is predictable. Companies big and small are now facing multiple new unstudied challenges.

The world is becoming more Volatile, Uncertain, Complex and Ambiguous each single day, and these conditions make even the simplest short-term decisions extremely difficult.

We are shifting from an approach based around problem-solving plans aimed at reducing uncertainty, to a world where progress is made by actively engaging with uncertainty which requires higher levels of leadership learning agility.

Leaders with an Agile Mindset believe that "There is no failure, only feedback and lessons learnt for improvement." It's about taking everything as lessons, adjusting actions according to the feedback, and proceeding toward desired outcomes, resulting in continuous improvement.
